The Gospel According to St. John is the sixth in the series of the Catholic Apologetics Study Bible (CASB), which began publishing in 2003. As regards exegesis of the biblical text, it is the most detailed and comprehensive of the series, culminating in over 250 pages of verse-by-verse analysis. This CASB goes more deeply into the Greek text than any of the others in the series, showing spiritual nuances to the English reader that are simply not available in any English translation of the text or in any Catholic commentary available today. As such, the reader will come as close as humanly possible to the wonders of the God-Man as He lives out his life both in his divine and human natures. The Jesus portrayed in the Gospel of John will come alive like never before. The exegetical analysis is just burgeoning with amazing information, both on a theological and practical level. And most of all, it is made easy for the average reader to understand. In addition to the exegetical portions, this CASB contains seven appendices dealing with various issues that have arisen from historical studies of John's Gospel, such as the Christological and Trinitarian doctrines of the Church; the doctrine of the Eucharist from John 6:54-58; the question of Scripture's inerrancy in regards to apparent conflicts John has with the Synoptic Gospels; the sacrament of Confession from John 20:23; and other related topics.
